

INUDECO open online marathon «Challenges of Nuclear Power of Ukraine in wartime» will held on April 27 – 28, 2022

Dear colleagues!

On February 24, 2022, the aggressive war of the Russian Federation against Ukraine has been started. The invasion is part of the Russian-Ukrainian war started by RF in 2014, in which Russia has tried to deny its participation.

The Russian Federation has violated world's Nuclear Safety principles by their terrorist actions linked with shelling and seizure of Chernobyl and Zaporizhzhya Nuclear Power Plants, bombing of the Research Nuclear Facility "Neutron Source" in Kharkiv. In addition, Russia's military action against Ukraine's nuclear facilities is a direct violation of Article 7 of the Convention on the Nuclear Material Physical Protection. The actions of the Russian occupiers are classified as crimes under Art. 2 of the International Convention for the Suppression of Acts of Nuclear Terrorism.

Nuclear Power Plants and other nuclear facilities are objects of peaceful use of nuclear energy and, in accordance with Article 56 of the Additional Protocol to the Geneva Convention of 08.06.1949, are not intended for military actions and shouldn't be subjected to military attack. Therefore, the whole world community should know that Russia today is a nuclear terrorist country.

The organizers of the INUDECO conference believe that the scientific and professional community, as well as international organizations in the Nuclear field, have a strong enough voice to force the world to impose specific sanctions in the Nuclear sector on a country whose military troops shelling and seizing foreign Nuclear Facilities.

We should now to analyze the experience of the war in Ukraine, draw tough conclusions about the nuclear terrorism, the actions of international organizations, develop recommendations for the operation of NPPs and other nuclear facilities in wartime conditions.

Recognizing all the responsibilities and consequences of a reckless attack on Ukrainians Nuclear Facilities, the Organizational committee of the International Conference "Problems of Nuclear Facilities decommissioning and environmental recovery" INUDECO decided on April 27-28, 2022 to hold an annual conference as an open online discussion - a marathon of reports of everybody who is interested in INUDECO subject.
